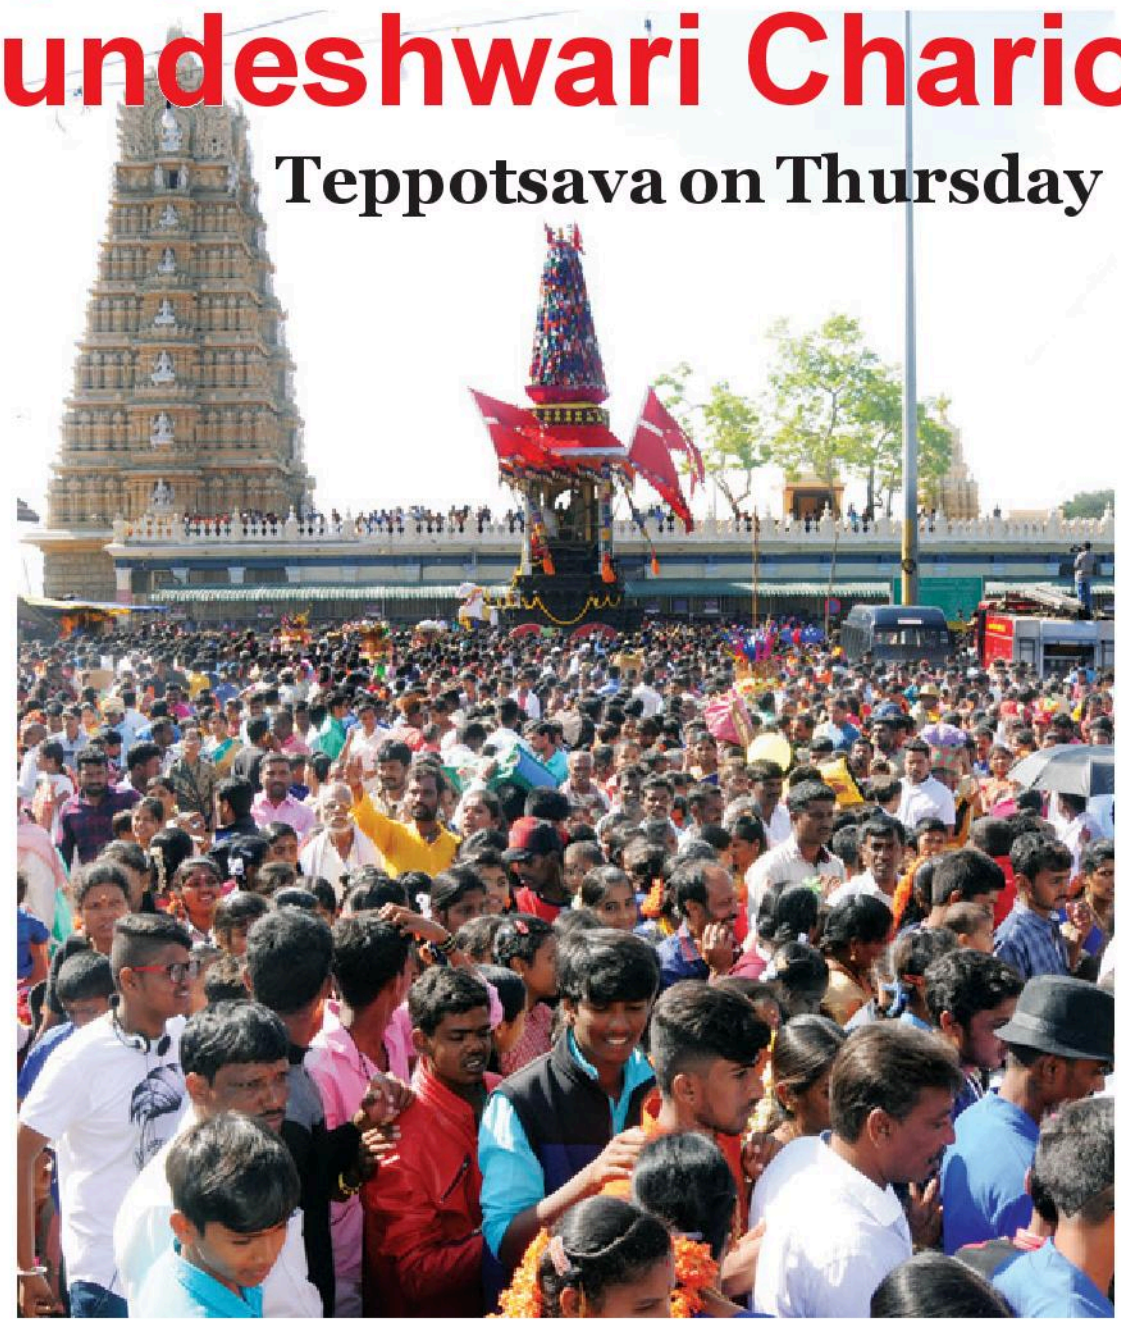
Thousands witness Chamundeshwari Chariot Fest

Teppotsava on Thursday



Mysuru, Oct. 23 (RK&DM)- The Chamundi Hill was a sea of humanity this morning as thousands of devotees from across the State thronged the Hill Temple for the famous Chamundeshwari Maharathotsava (Ratharohana) held annually after Vijayadashami.

Mysore Royal Family Titular Head Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar launched the Rathotsava in the auspicious Vrischika Lagna between 8.10 am and 8.40 am, in the presence of District Minister G.T. Devegowda.

Prior to the launch, Yaduveer offered prayers at the Temple, following which the idol of the presiding deity (Utsava Moorti) Goddess Chamundeshwari was brought out of the Temple and taken to the adjacent Mahabaleshwara Temple, where Mantapotsava rituals were performed. Thereafter, 'Naduchappara' rituals were performed by a team of priests led by Chief Priest Shashishekar Dikshit, following which the presiding deity was placed in the Ratha (chariot). The Ratha was taken around the Temple, with devotees vying with each other to draw the Ratha.

Devotees sought the blessings of the deity by showering the Ratha with dhavana, bananas and other ritualistic articles.

The magnificently decorated chariot was taken around the Temple amidst playing of music by Police Band, even as chanting of Shlokas rented the air all around. The Police had made elaborate security arrangements under the supervision of DCP (Law and Order) N. Vishnuvardhana. More than 60,000 devotees are expected to visit the Hill Shrine by the end of the day for the mega religious event.

The Traffic Police had put in place all traffic regulations and parking measures to ensure smooth vehicular movement.

The District Administration worked overtime to ensure that there was no lack of civic amenities atop the Hill to cater to the needs of swarm of devotees.

Muzrai Tahsildar N.S. Yathiraj Sampathkumaran, Chamundeshwari Temple EO Prasad, Muzrai staff Govindaraju and other officials were present.

Tomorrow (Oct.24), Ashwayuja Poornima Revathi Nakshatra Ashwarohana will take place; Panchopachara Puja and Kailasa Vahanotsava on the evening of Oct.26; Mahabhisheka, Simhavahana and Mantapotsava on Oct.27 and Mudi Utsava on the evening of Oct.28.

Teppotsava on Oct.25

The Teppotsava atop the Hill will take place at 7 pm on Thursday (Oct.25) along with associated rituals, according to Temple authorities.

MP inspects upgradation of Railway Workshop

Mysuru, Oct.23 (PM&SR)- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha inspected the modernisation and upgradation works of the workshop, other civil, mechanical and electrical works that have been taken up at a cost of Rs.35.44 crore at Central Railway Workshop (CRW) at Ashokapuram here this morning.

Pratap Simha

The MP was accompanied by CRW (Ashokapuram) Manager Ajaykumar, Deputy Manager M. Ravindran, Deputy Chief Engineer (Constructions) B. Ramesh Chandra and others.

The Union Government had allocated Rs.35.44 crore in the 2016 Budget for improvement of physical infrastructure towards capacity augmentation of the workshop which undertakes Periodic Overhauling (POH) of railway coaches for improving the performance of Indian Railways.

POH is a process of restoring and maintaining an equipment, machine or system in a serviceable condition. Overhaul involves partial or complete disassembling of the item, detecting damages, defect or worn parts and repairing or replacing of such parts in the coaches. This process also involves reassembling, testing the coaches and trial-run prior to returning the item to its full operating level.

POH of coaches is undertaken once in 12 or 18 months depending on the kilometres clocked by the coach by CRW.

The Central Railway Workshop in city is only the second such facility in South Western Railways (SWR) after Hubballi. This augmentation will add to the workshop's capacity to take up more coaches for POH.

Adding years to life

We, human beings, like all other living forms on the planet, are endowed with a limited life span. Of all the sayings about life and death, attributed to various luminaries of a distant past as well as views on these landmark events to be found in texts with unknown authors spanning several centuries, the statement that death of all living beings is a certainty has its stamp of certainty. The rest of the views to be traced to the cornucopia of sayings which can be accessed with some effort and undiluted curiosity throw light on the meaning of life that may spur the wish to add years to one's innings following birth until the day the inevitable happens. While death of those who don't matter in one's life makes news in the media, death of loved ones, including near and dear ones causes sadness. It is commonly said that feeling of sadness fades over time. Expressing condolence amounts to only reminder of the sad event.

Prostrating before elderly persons in reverence is an exclusive custom that is part of the culture in the land that has survived to this day. The blessing, bestowed lovingly by the elderly, has its sentimental prayers for years full of life ahead for the younger party. Death before reaching advanced age, due to whatever factors, is blamed on fate.

Although the rules of the game of living a full life, free from one or the other afflictions, aches and pains, stress-causing situations and other anticipated life-threatening activities in daily life are common knowledge on the part of literati, the care and caution of following these rules is more an exception than the rule. Two frequently published facts relating to life and death among the land's populace stare at each other. One is that life expectancy of the country's people is steadily rising year-on-year. The other is that the deaths due to some diseases namely, cancer, tuberculosis, cardiac diseases and even road mishaps are also on the rise.

The guidelines to be rigidly followed for leading a healthy life and reach the status of a senior citizen sound simple, yet disregarded by majority in the population. The most difficult-to-follow guideline seems to be adherence to the principle, Eat to live, don't live to eat, avoiding sedentary life, both physically and mentally.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

SWEET VOICES THAT TAKE ME TO THE PAST: My mother tongue is not Hindi. I am from Tamil Nadu. I studied in Chennai. For political reasons, the children of my generation in the State were prevented from learning a beautiful musical language. In our house, we loved Hindi songs. The voices of Kishore Kumar, Mohammed Rafi, Lata Mangeshkar, Mukesh and Mahendra Kapoor, and Asha Bhosle captivated us. When we hear those melodious Hindi songs, they gently take us back to the good old days of the late sixties and seventies. Even today, every favourite song reminds me of a particular event, incident or a person. When I happen to hear the song Zindagi Ek Safar of Andaz, the faces of my collegemates with whom I saw the Rajesh Khanna movie float before my eyes. The songs from Mera Naam Joker, which I used to hear in the Sanatorium where my brother underwent treatment in vain for lung fibrosis kindle old pains in my heart. They arouse in my mind the memory of TB patients and their deaths. Songs of Aradhana occupy a special place in my life. The heart-tickling song Mere Sapno Ki Rani Kab Aayegi Tu makes me remember the short-lived romance between my elder brother and the fair girl Usha from the opposite house. — *M.R. Magical book that glows from within

Tokyo: An experimental artist has captured the imaginations of thousands of fantasy and anime fans by creating a seemingly magical book in which the letters keep shining brighter and brighter as the reader approaches its conclusion.

Uka Ohashi, an experimental novelist, created her amazing book as a class assignment, based on an actual novel that she wrote. The original idea was to incorporate the concept of glowing letters in an entire book, with the illuminated pages making up the conclusion and lighting up brighter and brighter as the reader approached the end. However, time was of the essence, so she only made the conclusion as a proof of concept.

The artist started out by cutting the Japanese characters using a precise laser cutter, and then bound them all in a book with an LED strip glued to the spine. When activated, the LEDs light a warm, magical light through the pages and create the illusion of glowing characters.

Vietnam's unique flooded cafe

Ho Chi Minh: Animal cafes have been springing up all over the world, but Amix Coffee is the only cafe in the world where you can relax as dozens of decorative fish swim under your feet.

Located in Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh City, Amix Coffee features two flooded floors filled with hundreds of fish both small and large. They are both insulated with two layers of plastic tarp and furniture legs are wrapped in cotton to minimize friction and prevent damage to the tarp. In order to gain access to these man-made ponds full of fish, visitors are required to take off their shoes and clean their feet. They can then enjoy a wide range of refreshments and snacks as Japanese carp and other small fish swim under their feet.

Concrete works of R.P. Road in N'gud going on at snail's pace

By Ravi Shankar

Nanjangud, Oct.23- The concrete works of R.P. Road (Rashtrapathi Road) in the heart of the town is going on at a snail's pace.

The concrete works started one-and-a-half-years ago when Siddharamaiah was the Chief Minister and Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa was the PWD Minister.

Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa with an eye on fielding his son Sunil Bose from Nanjangud (SC) constituency in the by-poll that ensued following the resignation of V. Sreenivasa Prasad, had got released crores of rupees for the development of the constituency.

The R.P. Road work was one of the many projects taken up then. But Dr. Mahadevappa failed to get the Congress ticket for his son and eventually Kalale Keshavamurthy, who defected from the JD(S), got the Congress ticket and even won the seat.

As he failed to get the Congress ticket for his son, Dr. Mahadevappa seemed to have lost interest in development works and even the contractor who had bagged the tender stopped the works midway.

Later, B. Harshavardhan of the BJP won from Nanjangud in the May 2018 Assembly polls and Kalale Keshavamurthy of the Congress lost. After some days, the contractor, citing replacement of old water lines along the road, demanded Rs.1.35 crore more for installation of new pipelines.

Even as the blame-game between the contractor and officials went on, the traders doing business on R.P. Road staged a massive demonstration and threatened to call a Nanjangud bandh.

Thereafter, MP R. Dhurvanarayan and MLA Harshvardhan held talks with the PWD Minister and the Chief Engineer in a bid to remove the hurdles for the completion of the works.

Following the efforts of the MP and the MLA, works resumed. But the slow pace of the works has annoyed the traders, public and all others alike, with dust frequently emanating from the road.

Amidst all these short-comings, there are complaints of poor curing and apathy of officials, who have failed in closely monitoring the works on a regular basis. With works incomplete, the nearby residents are put to a lot of hardship, especially when it rains. The indifference of CMC Members and officials have only compounded the problem, with people left to suffer.

It is time for the officials and the people representatives to wake up at least now and see that the concretisation of the all important road is completed as early as possible and thus provide relief to the people of this temple town.

Unsafe road in Roopanagar

Sir,

The road which leads to Amrita Kripa Hospital in Roopanagar is in a very bad condition. This apart, motorists come in the wrong direction to avoid the bad road which may lead to accidents and also cause severe damage to the vehicles plying on the bad roads.

Poor road construction is responsible for the damages of the roads. This road is very dangerous to travel especially for the patients who travel through this stretch to reach the hospital.

It has been 3-4 years and the authorities concerned are not taking any action. No repairs or constructions are taken up to set right the road. Hope the authorities will wake up at least now and take steps soon.

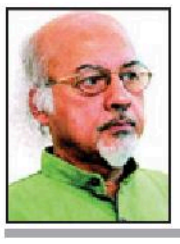
A crown Prince warns the world



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Saudi Arabia's attempts to play innocent in the murder of US-based Saudi journalist Jamal Khashoggi flopped from the start. Even Saudi supporter Donald Trump initially expressed dismay and called for "severe punishment" if Khashoggi was killed. In turn Saudi Arabia's effective ruler Mohammad bin Salman (MbS) threatened to "respond to any action with a bigger one."

Threats will not erase the damage already suffered by MbS and his country. Revulsion across the world at Khashoggi's disappearance in the Saudi Consulate in Istanbul led to protests by a number of independent agencies. A prestige MbS project, Vision 2030, suddenly saw many of its sponsors pulling out, among them World Bank, New York Times, Financial Times, The Economist, CNN, LA Times, Huffington Post, Viacom, JP Morgan, Ford. The Economist rubbed it in by underlining MbS' "brutish handling of even mild critics" and saying that his regime has started "to resemble an Arab nationalist dictatorship."

According to officials in Turkey, Khashoggi was done in by a 15-man Saudi squad, his body cut up and disposed of. The world believed the horror story because it fitted into the profile the Saudi power-wielder had acquired in just a couple of years. A liberal gesture here and there — like allowing women to drive cars in the country — did not hide the dictatorial streak in him. Quite a few fellow royals and business leaders have been imprisoned. Some have fled. Dozens of activists and writers have been arrested and tortured.

The war in Yemen, a one-man decision by him, is still going on, described by the UN as "the world's worst humanitarian crisis." Equally clumsy was the blunder of trying to boycott Qatar simply because it wouldn't declare Iran as an enemy. The biggest show of arrogance was the "arrest" of Lebanon's Prime Minister on a visit to Jeddah in 2017. That was part of MbS' idea of keeping Lebanon under his control.

When a German Minister referred to Saudi war in Yemen as "adventurism," MbS went into a rage, recalled the Ambassador to Berlin and closed down German trade deals with Saudis. The loss of business forced Germany to go down on its knees. When Canada's Foreign Minister tweeted for the release of human rights activists in Saudi Arabia, the Canadian Ambassador was expelled, Saudi flights to Canada were shut down and Saudi students in Canada were asked to return.

This kind of over-reaction raised the question whether MbS, even as he sits on a powerful throne, is suffering from an insecurity complex. Perhaps he is haunted by the fact that he is an out-of-turn promotee in the royal hierarchy. Perhaps he is also bothered by the thought that the notion of "royalty" itself belongs to the past, especially after the Arab Spring saw anti-government uprisings and armed rebellions across West Asia in 2011.

The Saudi royal family was not royal to begin with. Founder Ibn Saud was a tribal

Mohammed bin Salman

Sheikh who was driven out of his home base in the Riyadh area of the peninsula in 1890. It took him a decade of fighting to subdue the tribes around his lost territory and another decade to consolidate his position. He turned out to be a master of political intrigue. He struck deals with the British, a prominent presence in the area at the time, and entered into an agreement with the fundamentalist religious doctrine of Wahabism thereby gaining a powerful, if controversial, pillar of support and a leadership position in the propagation of Islam.

Ibn Saud was considered an affable man with an undisguised talent to enjoy life. He visited India in 1955 and won a lot of hearts by distributing bundles of currency notes to passers-by. He had a famous meeting with US President Roosevelt on an American warship near the Mediterranean. The King went on-board with not only body-guards, cooks and slaves but also astrologers, a fortune-teller and some sheep. He told a British official rather light-heartedly that he had "married no fewer than 135 virgins." He had 43 acknowledged sons and 55 daughters. People liked him.

People don't seem to like Mohammed bin Salman. His tendency to be a law unto himself marked him out as a leader other countries were cautious about. Khashoggi's disappearance merely brought out the world's reservations about him in sharper focus. Saudi authorities have been busy with inquiries which no doubt will absolve them of any responsibility in the murder. But the world is unlikely to be impressed. MbS has lost more than he has gained.

Mysuru, Oct.23 (SBD&KS)- A man, who took a car for a trial round after leaving his Royal Enfield bike with the car owner, has reportedly fled with the car and the car owner after waiting for five days has handed over the bike to N.R. Police besides lodging a complaint.

The man, who lost his car, is Mehboob Khan of N.R. Mohalla, while the person who fled with the car has been identified as Arjun. Khan, who owned a Skoda Octavia car (KA-01 D-1227), wanted to sell the car and had advertised on a online platform about 15 days back.

Meanwhile, one Arjun, who too wanted to sell his Royal Enfield bike (KA-13 ED-0045) had also advertised in the same online portal. Arjun, who saw Khan's advertisement, contacted him on Oct.10 and both of them had reportedly agreed to exchange their vehicles.

On the same day afternoon, Arjun met Khan at his (Khan) relative's house in R.S. Naidu Nagar and asked Khan to take his Enfield bike for a trial round and told Khan that he was taking the car for a trial round too.

Khan, who took the bike for trials on the Ring Road, came after a few minutes and began to wait for Arjun to bring back the car near Naidu Nagar Bus Stand. Though half-an-hour had passed there was no sign of Arjun. Khan made a call to Arjun's mobile phone only to receive the message that the phone was switched off.

Despite knowing that he has been cheated, Khan waited for five days and later handed over the Royal Enfield bike which was with him to N.R. Police and lodged a complaint.

N.R. Police, who have registered a case in this regard, are investigating.

'Knit For Peace' team from England visits Urdu Primary School

The Green Hotel Charities Advisory Trust on a mission to donate books to Govt. Schools

The Green Hotel Charities Advisory Trust Director Dame Hilary Blume and team interacting with students of Government Urdu Higher Primary School in city this morning.

Mysuru, Oct.23 (RK&NNN)- A 15-Member 'Knit For Peace' team from England, led by The Green Hotel Charities Advisory Trust Director Dame Hilary Blume visited the Government Urdu Higher Primary School at Nachanahalli Palya on Manandavadi Road here this morning and saw the progress of the children studying in the school.

The Trust, which runs a group of hotels, ploughs all its profits into charitable activities and as part of this, recently donated books to the Library of the school. The Trust is working in co-ordination with RLHP (Rural Literacy and Health Programme), a voluntary Non-Government Organisation (NGO) that identifies the beneficiaries for such programmes.

The Head Mistress of the School Syeda Sadaq Unissa welcomed the team and showed them around the school. She said that the school is run in a rented building with 93 children from standard one to seven studying.

The team asked the children whether the books donated were useful to them and the children replied that inspiring books on the leaders of the nation like Mahatma Gandhi, Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam, Lal Bahadur Shastri, freedom fighters like Tipu Sultan and Kittur Rani Channamma were all useful, when they read about them.

RLHP Director Saraswathi, who is coordinating the programme, told Star of Mysore that the Trust, whose main focus was on health and education, had so far given books to the libraries in nearly 100 schools in Mysuru, Mandya and Chamarajanagar districts through RLHP and nearly 15,000 children had been benefited. The team also saw the kitchen and the kind of food provided to the students and enquired about the children's background, she added.

School Development Monitoring Committee members Mumtaz and Shamin Taj were also present.

MP inspects Rly. Workshop

At present, 70 coaches undergo POH each month and this will increase to 80 once the new facilities are in place at Ashokapuram CRW, which was established to cater to the erstwhile Mysore State Railway in 1924 and expanded in 1932.

Consequent to the Railways adopting a uni-gauge policy, the facility was converted to BG workshop and is now on its path to modernisation to service German-designed Linke Hofmann Busch (LHB) coaches as well.

CRW has commissioned other works involving construction of industrial shop, administrative and other ancillary buildings, track works, all electrification, illumination works of building, supply, procurement, commissioning of specified, mechanical machineries, electrically operated cranes in connection with POH facility in order to enhance the out-turn of the coaches including LHB from 70 to 80 per month at Mysore workshop.

Of the sanctioned Rs. 35.44 crore, the CRW had planned civil works at the cost of Rs. 20.58 crore, mechanical works of Rs. 11.58 crore and electrical works of Rs. 2.99 crore.

Under civil works, CRW has taken up the construction of the compound wall, relocation of scrap yard, linking of Railway line and laying of track grid areas, construction of stores, offices, computer office, conference hall and other works.

Under mechanical works, CRW has commenced the works like installation and commissioning of four electrically operated cranes of various capacities, installation and commissioning of one hydraulic press, commissioning of two winches, one Road Mobile crane and installation of 20 welding plants.

Works to be completed by June 2019

Speaking to media persons, MP Pratap Simha said that all the works that has been taken up by CRW will be completed by June 2019. Though the Union Government had sanctioned Rs. 35.44 crore for modernisation works long back, the CRW had begun the works just three months back. The launching of works were not inaugurated officially as the model code of conduct was in force, he added.

Parliamentary Standing Committee of Railways had made a strong plea for its modernisation in view of the growing importance of Railways in the economic growth and development in future, the MP said.

Solar Power

He said the CRW is also equipped with 500 KV Solar PV Roof Top at CRW in Ashokapuram. It generates about 50,000 mega watts units of power every year and CRW purchases other 35,000 mega watt of power from CESC every year to meet its energy demands.

300 to be recruited

Stating that about 1,600 employees were working at CRW at present, he said the Railways plans to recruit another 300 employees shortly for this workshop.

Hegde inaugurating the Audio Books and one-day workshop on Online Library for Visually Challenged Students organised by University with Potential for Excellence's Drushti-Centre for Education of Visually Challenged, at Vignan Bhavan auditorium, here yesterday as Prof. N. Usha Rani, Dr. Krishna Hombal and others look on.

Mysuru, Oct.23 (MK&NNN)- The reservations provided in the Constitution for visually challenged persons unfortunately is not being implemented by many institutions under the government, regretted University of Mysore former Vice-Chancellor Prof. S.N. Hegde.

He was speaking after inaugurating the Audio Books and one-day workshop on Online Library for Visually Challenged Students organised by University with Potential for Excellence's Drushti-Centre for Education of Visually Challenged, at Vignan Bhavan auditorium, here yesterday and said that there is a rule for 3 per cent reservation in jobs for visually challenged. However, it is sad to note that none of the institutions under the government are following this rule.

The society should view both people with eye sight and those without eyes in the same lens. They should not look at the visually challenged with sympathetic eyes but treat them on an equal level. They should be provided with jobs in all the major posts, he said.

In the epic Mahabharata the visually challenged Dhritharashtra was made the king. If this was possible during those days itself why they should not be provided with opportunities now, questioned Prof. Hegde.

In all, 2,410 audio books and 950 Braille script books prepared by a team headed by Shivaji Ganeshan, Senior Journalist and Coordinator, Community Radio, Tumkur, as per the syllabus of the University of Mysore, were released on the occasion. Apex Court refuses complete ban on firecrackers

Imposes conditions on use and sale

New Delhi, Oct.23- The Supreme Court today refused to impose complete ban on sale of firecrackers across the country. The apex Court said that sale can happen through only licensed traders and that only green crackers can be sold. Online sale of firecrackers has been completely banned.

The Supreme Court directions apply to all festivals and functions like marriages. The Supreme Court today said that only firecrackers with reduced emission and decibel levels will be permitted during all festivals.

The Supreme Court's verdict came in response to a plea seeking a ban on manufacturing and sale of firecrackers across the country to curb air pollution.

Dist. Minister inaugurates Cement Sculpture Camp on Gandhiji

Mysuru, Oct.23 (RKB&SR)- As many as 300 students are participating in the 12-day Cement Sculpture Camp on Gandhiji that began at Gandhi Bhavan premises in Manasagangothri campus here yesterday.

The camp has been organised jointly by the Department of Kannada and Culture, Karnataka Shilpakala Academy, Bengaluru, Rangayana, Mysuru and Centre for Gandhian Studies, University of Mysore (UoM), on account of 150th birth anniversary celebrations of Mahatma Gandhi.

About 15 artisans of National and International repute from various parts of the State will train the students at the camp.

They will teach the students to carve sculptures of various models based on the life and teachings of Gandhiji. They will prepare the models after seeing the rare pictures of Gandhiji

Speaking after inaugurating the camp, District Minister G.T. Devegowda regretted that the Gram Swaraj, violence-free society conceptualised by Mahatma Gandhi is yet to be realised.

District Minister G.T. Devegowda showering petals on a bust of Mahatma Gandhi at the Mysore University premises yesterday during the inaugurating of Sculpture Camp as Acting Vice-Chancellor Aisha M. Shariff, Registrar Prof. R. Rajanna and others look on.

He underlined the need for re-launching a Movement to popularise Gandhian values among the youth in particular for establishment of communal harmony and unity among people.

Gandhiji always advocated the principles of non-violence, truth and simplicity besides stressing for the betterment of the oppressed classes.

Unfortunately, the present day youth are moving away from Gandhian values, he said.

Referring on the Union Government's decision of celebrating the 150th birth anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi after allocating sufficient funds, he ridiculed that both, Prime Minister Narendra Modi and his party, have now realised the importance and teachings of Gandhiji.

He accused BJP of standing against the principles of Gandhiji and said, "at least they now understood Gandhian values are all the more relevant in the present day context."

He lauded the Centre for Gandhian Studies for its efforts to spread Gandhian values.

Lamenting on declining Gandhian thoughts in school curriculum framed by various State syllabus, he said that he had given directions to all the Vice-Chancellors to introspect the teachings and contributions of Gandhiji besides taking steps to spread his message among students, at the recently held meeting.

University of Mysore Acting Vice-Chancellor Aisha M. Shariff, Karnataka Shilpakala Academy Chairman R. Kalachar, Centre for Gandhian Studies Director M.P. Shekar, Varsity Registrar Prof. R. Rajanna and others were present during the inauguration of the camp.

WORD OF THE DAY

Gloaming

Pronunciation: GLOH-ming
Meaning: Twilight; dusk.
Origin: If gloaming makes you think of tartans and bagpipes, you've got a good ear and a good eye; we picked up gloaming from the Scottish dialects of English back in the Middle Ages. The roots of the word trace to the Old English word for "twilight," glōm, which is akin to glōwan, an Old English verb meaning "to glow." In the early 1800s, English speakers looked to Scotland again and borrowed the now-archaic verb gloam, meaning "to become dusk" or "to grow dark."
Example: At gloaming, the night sky began to darken and the stars could be seen more clearly.

THE ODD WORD

Gingerly

In a careful or cautious manner.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Zero-sum game

Meaning: To be in a situation where the outcomes can either be to win or to lose; a situation where one side cannot win unless the other loses.
Origin: The words "zero-sum" indicates an equal or neutral emphasis on the outcome of the "game." It means that the outcome total is zero, which indicates that one side wins and the other loses in exactly that proportion. It has originated in the 1940s in the field of game theory.
Example: I hope you understand that this is a zero-sum game and that we will have to defeat the opponents in order to move ahead in the competition.
